

Freedom of Information

Annual Report 2007–08

Minister's introduction

This is the 16th annual report to the Queensland Parliament on the operation of the Freedom of Information Act 1992 (Qld) (the Act). The object of this Act is to extend as far as possible the right of the community to have access to information held by Queensland government.

The Freedom of Information Annual Report 2007-08 gives an overview of Freedom of Information activities across both state and local government in Queensland.

A total of 13,320 Freedom of Information applications were received by state and local government agencies during the 2007-08 year, which is an increase of 9.4 per cent from the previous year.

In 2007-08 full or partial access was granted to 86 per cent of documents requested.

Democracy is strengthened by transparency. That's why, in the years ahead, we will continue to empower Queenslanders to access information held by government and support the right to information. We are determined to be the most open and accountable government in Australia.

I am pleased to present the Freedom of Information Annual Report 2007-08 to parliament.

Attorney-General and Minister for

Activity under the Freedom of Information Act 1992

Introduction

The Freedom of Information Act 1992 (Qld) (the Act) gives people a right to access, subject to limited exemptions and exceptions, or amend documents held by ministers, state government departments, local government and public authorities.

Under s.108 of the Act, the minister responsible for administering the Act is required to prepare a report on the operation of the Act and table the report in parliament. Here is the report for the year 2007-08.

Underpinning Freedom of Information (FOI) is the right of access to information making government more open, accountable and participatory. The Act also acknowledges that individual citizens require access to the information recorded by government concerning their personal affairs and provides the means to ensure that such information is accurate and up-to-date.

These principles are qualified by a recognition that certain information should not be accessible under the Act. The Act recognises that essential public and private interests would suffer if there was an unrestricted public right to access all classes of information.

The Freedom of Information Annual Report 2007-08 is the 16th prepared under s.108 since the commencement of the Act in 1992. All agencies subject to the Act have provided information about their FOI operations for inclusion in this report.

A note on the personal/non-personal classification

FOI applications are classified as either 'personal' or 'non-personal'. Any application for a document that does not concern the applicant's personal affairs is a 'non-personal' application. Non-personal applications are subject to a mandatory application fee and processing charges where applicable.

Overview 2007-08

During the 2007-08 reporting period, a total of 13,320 applications (6,949 personal and 6,371 non-personal) were received. This is 1,141 more than the previous year, which is an increase of 9 per cent. State government agencies received 12,183 applications (6,728 personal and 5,455 non-personal) and the local government sector received 1,137 applications (221 personal and 916 non-personal).

Amendment applications

A person has the right under the Act to apply to amend information held by the Queensland Government about their personal affairs which is inaccurate, incomplete, out of date or misleading.

There were 44 applications for amendment of documents received across both state and local government in 2007-08. This is an increase of 19 per cent on the previous year.

Yearly trend comparisons of amendment applications since 1992-93

Fees and charges

The FOI Regulation 2006 sets out the application fees and charges for documents for non-personal applications. Charges can be imposed for processing (e.g. time spent retrieving documents and making decisions) and providing access (e.g. supervising inspection, photocopying documents).

The Queensland public sector, including local government, collected in 2007-08:

- $161,915.74 in access application fees
- $258,312.52 in access processing charges.

Report on the operation of the Act

Section 108 of the Act requires that as soon as practicable after the end of each financial year, the minister administering the Act must prepare a report on the operation of the Act. Section 108 provides:

Section 108 report to Legislative Assembly by agencies and ministers

- (4) A report under subsection (1) must include, in relation to the financial year to which it relates, particulars of the operations of each agency and Minister under this Act including, in relation to each agency and Minister:
 - (a) the number of applications for access under this Act made to each agency and to each Minister; and
 - (b) the number of preliminary assessment notices and the number of final assessment notices given by each agency and by each Minister; and
 - (c) the number of decisions not to give access to a document, the provisions of this Act under which matter was classified as exempt and the number of times each provision was invoked; and
 - (d) the number of applications under sections 52 for review of a decision, and, if the officer conducting the review confirmed, in whole or part, a decision classifying matter as exempt matter, the provision of this Act under which that decision was made; and
 - (e) the number of applications for amendment of information under this Act made to each agency and to each Minister; and
 - (f) the number of applications under section 60 for review of a decision; and
 - (g) the number of notices served on the principal officer of the agency under section 20(1) and the number of decisions by the principal officer that were adverse to the person's claim; and
 - (h) particulars of any disciplinary action taken against an officer in relation to the administration of this Act; and
 - (i) the amount of fees and charges collected by the agency or Minister; and
 - (j) any other facts indicating an effort by the agency or Minister to implement and administer this Act.
- (5) It is sufficient compliance with subsection (1) if the department's annual report for a financial year includes a report about the matters mentioned in this section.

Efforts in administering the Act—s.108(4)(j)

Section 108(4)(j) of the Act requires this report to detail any efforts made by the agency or minister in administering the Act.

Legislative changes

In the reporting period, the Act was amended to state that:

- it does not apply to certain complaints to the Health Quality and Complaints Commission (s.11(1)(pa))
- an offender's 'agent' is not entitled to access risk assessment documents (s.11E)
- certain information created for ensuring security or good order of a corrective services facility is exempt (s.42AA).

Other legislation clarified that:

- under the Corrective Services Act 2006, the FOI Act applies to certain service providers engaged by Corrective Services
- under the Education (General Provisions) Act 2006, school councils are not required to publish certain information under FOI
- under the Police Powers and Responsibilities Act 2006 the FOI Act does not apply to certain police activities or records.

Key initiatives

FOI independent review

On 17 September 2007, the Queensland Government appointed an independent expert panel, the FOI Independent Review Panel, to undertake a comprehensive review of the Freedom of Information Act 1992. The members of this panel were Dr David Solomon AM (Chair), Ms Simone Webb and Mr Dominic McGann. The panel reviewed the purposes and principles of FOI; whether the FOI Act satisfies those purposes and principles; and ways to improve and modernise Queensland's FOI regime.

Issues under review included:

- the effectiveness of processes under the FOI Act (including application and review processes)
- the exemption provisions in Part 3 Division 2 of the FOI Act
- the time and costs involved in providing access to government documents
- the effectiveness and adequacy of current reporting and data collection requirements
- access by individuals to personal information, including the interaction between Queensland's FOI regime and the protection of privacy interests
- the interaction of the FOI Act with other mechanisms (including non-legislative mechanisms) for accessing information held by government.

The panel published its report, the Right to Information, in June 2008 listing 141 recommendations for change to the current FOI regime in Queensland.

Lead agency

The Department of Justice and Attorney-General is lead agency in relation to FOI. It has demonstrated its leadership effort in the areas of FOI education and training, information and support, community awareness and policy and legislation.

Education and training

This initiative aims to improve FOI decision-making across the public sector, provide FOI practitioners with flexible, targeted training opportunities, and to support in-house training for agencies.

For the 2007-08 reporting period, 13 FOI training sessions were conducted in Brisbane and regional areas with a total of 147 people trained. The sessions were attended not only by new or inexperienced FOI decision-makers and support staff, but also by experienced officers looking to refresh or update their skills in a particular area.

Information and support

The Department of Justice and Attorney-General also provides the community with information about FOI and offers a timely support and advice service for FOI practitioners through publications and the FOI help line. The Queensland FOI website provides information to the community and agencies on the FOI process in Queensland.

Support to FOI officers is also promoted through the continued work of the state government FOI network which is convened by the Department of Justice and Attorney-General. This network serves to disseminate information and provide a forum for discussion on general FOI issues of common concern to practitioners.

Community awareness

In addition to assisting the public sector, the Department of Justice and Attorney-General promotes awareness of FOI and administrative access schemes to the broader community and groups such as the media, private legal practitioners and community groups, through the state government FOI website and the help line.

The Queensland FOI website is a comprehensive site with information on the Act as well as contacts for other state government departments and agencies. FOI brochures are held by the Department of Justice and Attorney-General and other agencies. Topical information sheets are available on the website.

Other efforts in administering the Act

Administrative access

Administrative access schemes are an alternative to seeking access to documents under the Act. Agencies generally provide access through administrative release where, for example, the applicant is seeking access to their own personal information, or where the information is generally publicly accessible as a public register. Access through an administrative scheme may be provided on payment of a fee, or for no fee at all, depending on the information. It is often the case that access to documents under an administrative access scheme is provided within a shorter period than under FOI.

The administrative release of documents by Queensland Health continues to be far in excess of FOI applications processed.

Appendices 1.1-1.14

The appendices to the report provide consolidated information about applications made, and decisions given, across the Queensland public sector including local government for 2007-08.

The appendices contain information that is required to be reported on under ss.108(4)(a)(b)(c)(d)(e) and (i) of the Act.

Information relating to the other requirements of s.108 is contained in the main body of the FOI annual report.

Tables

The information contained in the following tables has been collected and provided by agencies. The accuracy of data has been confirmed with the relevant agencies.
