1.0 INTRODUCTION

1.1 Annual Report to Parliament

Queensland's Freedom of Information Act 1992 (the Act) is designed to give citizens a general right of access to Government's information in documentary form, in order to facilitate the democratic and representative processes. The guiding philosophy is that a public right of access to information makes Government more open, accountable and participatory. The Act also acknowledges that individual citizens justly require access to the information recorded by Government concerning their personal affairs and the means to ensure that such information is accurate and up-to-date. The qualifications to these principles, contained in the Act, are based upon the need to protect essential public and private interests which would suffer if there was an unrestricted public right to access all classes of information, including, for example, information about the private affairs of individuals. A number of the qualifications require an assessment of the competing public interest considerations as they arise on a case by case basis.

Section 108 of the Act requires the responsible Minister to prepare a report on the operation of the Act for each financial year, to be tabled in the Legislative Assembly.

This report for 2003–04 is the 12th prepared under section 108 since the commencement of the Act in 1992. It represents a significant Whole-of-Government endeavour. All agencies subject to the Act (which includes the central departments of government, public authorities and local governments) have, throughout the year, collected and recorded detailed information about the applications received, the decisions taken, the documents to which access was given or refused, the grounds of refusal, and the outcomes of the review processes, for inclusion in this report.

2.0 SUBSECTION 108(4) – OPERATIONS OF AGENCIES AND MINISTERS

2.1 Paragraph 108(4)(a) – Number of applications

Information detailing the number of applications made to each agency and to each Minister in respect of official documents is contained in the following appendices:

- Appendix 1.1 Number of Access Applications (State Government)
- Appendix 1.2 Number of Access Applications (Local Government)
- Appendix 1.5 Types of FOI Applications (State Government)
- Appendix 1.6 Types of FOI Applications (Local Government)

2.1.1 Overview of statistics

During the 2003–04 reporting period, 12,288 applications (5,238 personal and 7,050 non-personal) were received in relation seeking access to documents. State Government agencies received 11,029 applications (5,046 personal and 5,983 non-personal) with local governments accounting for 1,259 applications (192 personal and 1,067 non-personal).

The total number of applications represents an increase of 9.6% (1,177 applications) from the previous year.

For the purpose of FOI in Queensland, a ‘document’ may refer to a single page of a larger file or a document in its entirety. Additionally, the terms ‘personal’ and non-personal’ go beyond a distinction between those lodged by private citizens and those lodged organisations. Any application for a document that does not concern the applicant’s personal affairs is deemed to be ‘non-personal’.

A document concerns the applicant’s personal affairs if it contains at least some information about the applicant in relation to his or her personal affairs, although this need not be the dominant theme of the document. The individual’s personal affairs in this context involve the private and domestic aspects of life, that is, one’s affairs in a private capacity. If any one or more of the documents sought cannot be characterised in this way, the application is deemed to be ‘non-personal’.

The key point of distinction is that the ‘non-personal’ application is subject to an application fee (presently set by regulation at $34.40), whereas ‘personal’ applications are not subject to any fee. Applications considered ‘non-personal’ may also be subject to processing charges (presently set by section 8 of the regulation) if the application takes more than two hours to process.

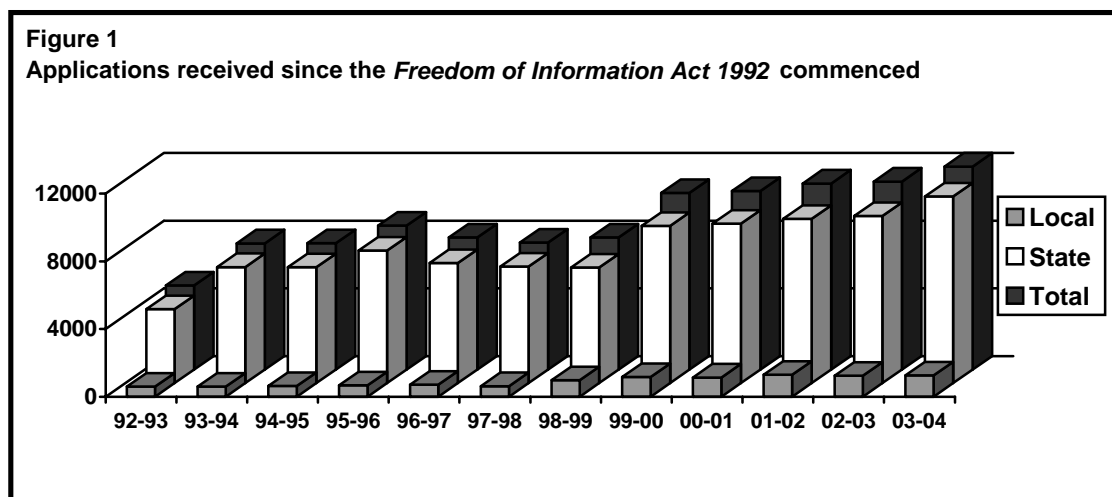

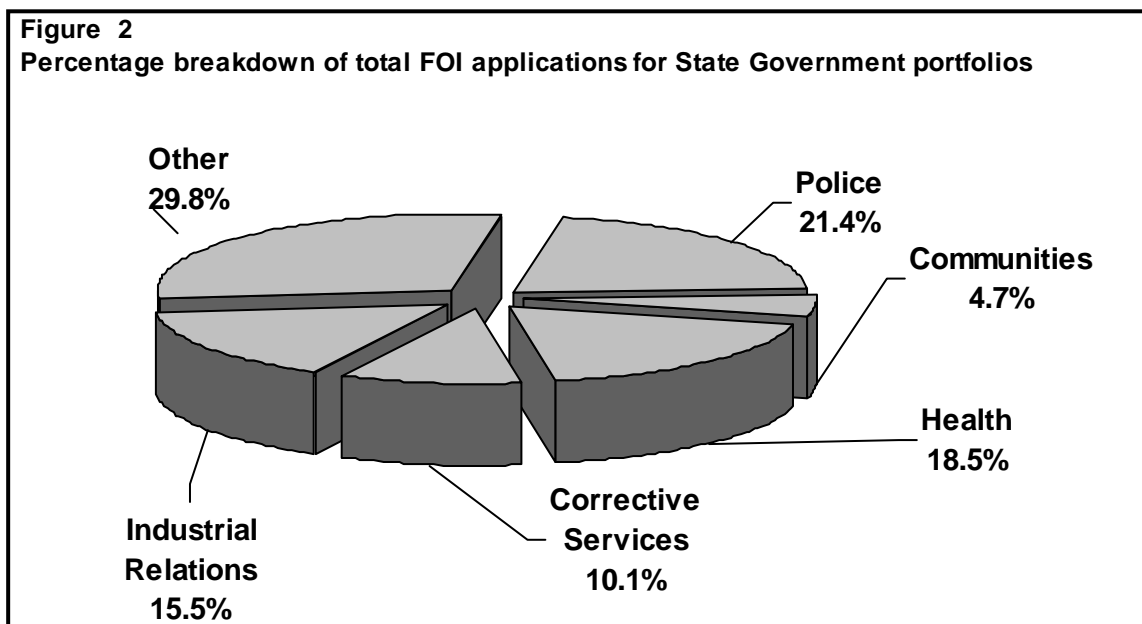

Figure 2 indicates that the Police portfolio received the largest number of FOI applications for 2003–04. A total of 2,387 applications were received, representing a 10.4% increase on 2002-03. Substantial proportional increases in numbers of applications received were experienced in the following portfolios: Premier and Cabinet (51.7%), Natural Resources Mines and Energy (44%), Education (37.3%) and Industrial Relations (27.6%).

The ‘other’ category in Figure 2 includes all the remaining State Government portfolios not specifically mentioned in the chart.

2.2 Paragraph 108(4)(b) – Decisions not to give access

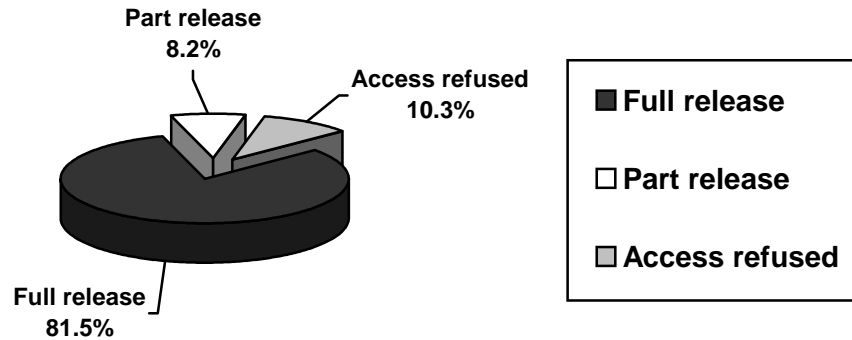

Information about the number of decisions to refuse access to documents, including the provisions of the Act under which documentary matter was held to be exempt and the number of times each provision was invoked, is contained in:

- Appendix 1.7 Action taken on documents (State Government)
- Appendix 1.8 Action taken on documents (Local Government).

2.2.1 Action taken on documents considered

Documents sought under the Act may be made accessible in full or in part (that is, subject to the deletion of some exempt matter) or access may be refused if the documents are found to be exempt. Figure 3 indicates the actions taken with respect to documents considered by State Government agencies and Ministers in relation to their official documents during 2003–04.

Figure 3
Actions on documents taken by State Government agencies and Ministers during 2002-2003

2.3 Paragraph 108(4)(c) – Name and designation of decision makers etc

Information required by paragraph 108(4)(c) of the Act is contained in:

- Appendix 1.7 Action taken on documents (State Government)
- Appendix 1.8 Action taken on documents (Local Government).

2.4 Paragraph 108(4)(d) – Internal review applications under sections 52 and 60

Information required under paragraph 108(4)(d) of the Act is contained in:

- Appendix 1.9 Internal review decisions (State Government)
- Appendix 1.10 Internal review decisions (Local Government).

2.5 Paragraph 108(4)(e) – Applications for review by Information Commissioner

At the beginning of the 2003–04 financial year the Information Commissioner brought forward 61 un-finalised applications for external review of agency and Ministerial decisions from the previous reporting period.

A further 287 fresh applications for external review were received by the Information Commissioner in 2003–04. The Information Commissioner finalised 256 applications during the reporting period and 92 applications were carried forward into the 2004–05 reporting period for further consideration.

The applications for external review for 2003–04 related to the following types of agency or Ministerial decisions:

• Refusal to grant access	130
• Deemed refusal to grant access	40
• No jurisdiction or misconceived application	56
• Deletion of exempt matter	26
• Third party objecting to the disclosure	16
• Third party not consulted: objects to the disclosure	1
• Refusal to amend	9
• Charges	19
Total: 287

The Information Commissioner publishes important decisions containing broadly applicable statements of principle for the administration of the Act as a formal decision series. The formal series, in full text, is made available on the Information Commissioner's website at www.infocomm.qld.gov.au and free on the Australian Legal Information Institute (AustLII) website at www.austlii.edu.au.

They are also published by LBC Information Services in the Queensland Administrative Reports. The Information Commissioner's website also has summaries of unreported, informal decisions, information sheets and practitioners' guidelines.

2.6 Paragraph 108(4)(f) – Statement of Affairs and notices received

The Act requires that each agency publish, at least yearly, an up-to-date statement of affairs describing its structure and functions, how its functions affect members of the community, its arrangements for public participation in policy formulation and the exercise of its functions, the kinds of documents held and how they can be accessed, and other aspects of the agency's business. Under section 20(1) of the Act, a person can serve a notice on any agency contending that it is not complying with its obligation to publish a proper statement of affairs. No notices were served in 2003–04.

2.7 Paragraph 108(4)(g) – Disciplinary action

There were no reported instances of disciplinary action arising from the administration of the Act.

2.8 Paragraph 108(4)(h) – Fees and Charges collected by agencies

Information about the amounts of charges collected by agencies in the reporting period is contained in:

- Appendix 1.11 Fees and Charges (State Government)
- Appendix 1.12 Fees and Charges (Local Government).

By way of example, the following agencies collected total charges in 2003–04 compared to the previous period, as follows:

State Development increased from $893.40 to $4,983.20;

Premier and Cabinet increased from $769.40 to $4,570.60;

Primary Industries and Fisheries decreased from $7,632.40 to $3,842.62;

Emergency Services decreased from $1,831.20 to $178.80;

In each instance, there is a very significant proportional variation, but the total charges collected remain low and represent a small part of the costs incurred by the agency in administering the Act.

On the other hand, the variations in the amount collected in fees and charges by the agencies listed below seem more significant as total amounts:

Natural Resources Mines and Energy increased from $23,728.51 to $35,295.37;

Environmental Protection Agency increased from $13,404.45 to $22,012.70

Whilst providing for more realistic (though only partial) cost recovery by agencies, the new charging arrangements also require early notification of estimated charges, giving applicants the opportunity to revise the scope of applications in order to minimise expense. An agency may be very successful in refining applications by negotiation, and make significant cost savings in doing so, without recovering more revenue in charges. It is also important to bear in mind that no charge is made for non-personal applications that consume less than two hours in staff time in chargeable activity. Some agencies, by reason of the general trends in applications received, will collect less in charges simply because a greater proportion of non-personal applications received can be dealt with in less than two hours of staff time, especially if the scope of particular applications can be refined by negotiation with applicants.

By way of example, within the Department of Justice and Attorney-General a large number of applications concern closed coroners' files. For this class of application a discrete file of attached papers can readily be identified and retrieved in connection with a given application. The Department's decision-maker is able to formulate and apply a general policy of disclosure of certain types of information to parties demonstrating a sufficient interest. Some cases will justify departures from the general policy, but there is a degree of standardisation to the decision making that produces efficiencies and many applications require no more than two hours of officers' time.

2.9 Paragraph 108(4)(i) – Reading room and other access facilities

A number of agencies have established dedicated reading rooms in which internally and externally published literature is retailed, and policy documents and some library holdings are made available to interested members of the community. All agencies report that conference and other rooms are generally available for inspections of documents accessed under the Act or under other arrangements.

2.10 Paragraph 108(4)(j) – Other efforts to implement and administer the FOI Act

2.10.1 Training

Agencies have recognised the importance of improving awareness and understanding of FOI within their staff. Awareness discussions and formal training sessions have been undertaken by a large proportion of agencies during 2003-04. Queensland Health, for example, has implemented a training program for decision-makers and reserve decision-makers in health service districts and health agencies tailored to the specific issues that arise within the sector.

Many agencies have also introduced FOI into their induction processes.

2.10.2 FOI awareness

Most agencies provide information and relevant links on their websites for people interested in accessing agency information, either by way of the Act or through other arrangements. Increasingly, agencies put electronic versions of literature, policies and discussion papers on their websites, which is consistent with the stated objectives of the Act to promote open discussion of public affairs and to keep the community aware of Government's operations.

2.10.3 Administrative access

Generally, agencies and departments promoted and developed administrative release arrangements, with some agencies establishing ‘Administrative Release’ units working in tandem with the FOI decision makers. These units facilitate access to documents outside the FOI process. This improved client service ensures timely access to documents.

A good example is provided by the Department of Communities, which has established a dedicated team to provide former residents of State Government run or licensed institutions with access to personal records, following the recommendations of the Forde Commission of Inquiry into Abuse of Children in Queensland Institutions.

2.10.4 Electronic processing

Agencies are moving towards a paperless FOI process. This is a cost-effective process in which physical files and relevant correspondence are stored electronically, thereby reducing the reliance on paper copies of documents. A number of agencies are currently using, while others have been investigating, ‘redaction’ technology developed some years ago by the United States Department of Defense for use in editing and storing documents relevant to FOI applications and litigation.

2.10.5 FOIonLine

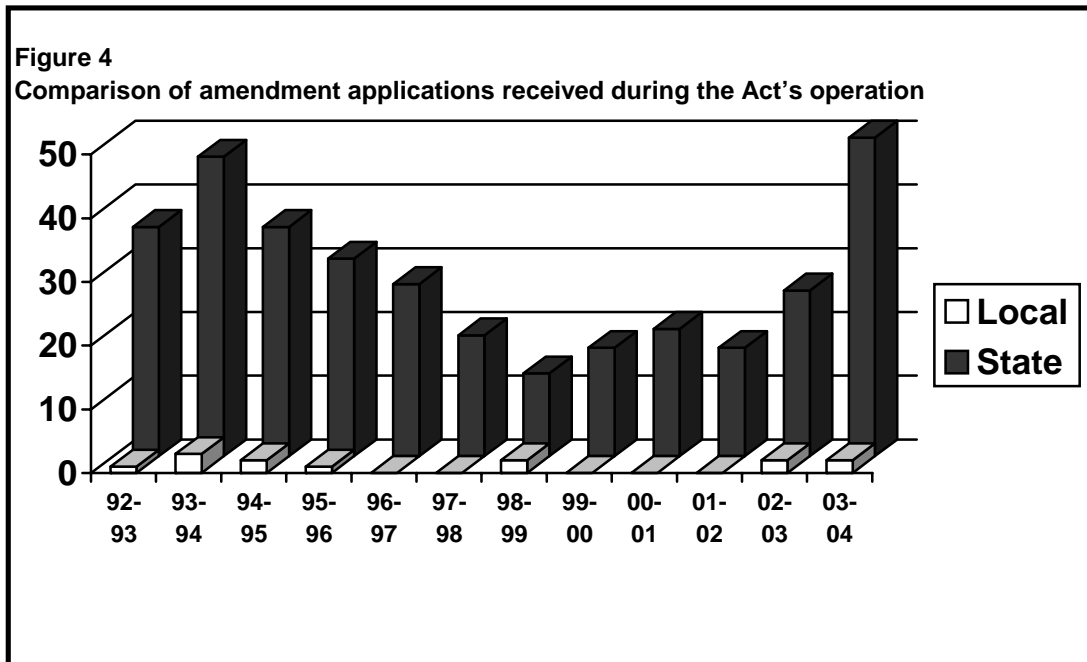

The Department of Justice and Attorney-General has continued its development of the FOIonLine database software. Considerable work was undertaken in the reporting period on record locking and validation testing of the system. FOIonLine is now used by a number of agencies and local governments.

3.0 AMENDMENT APPLICATIONS

3.1 Number of amendment applications

Sixty-nine applications for amendment of documents were received across five agencies of both State and Local Governments in 2003–04, representing an increase of 59.4% on the 2002–03 figures.

APPENDICES

The appendices to the report provide consolidated information about applications made and decisions taken across the whole of government in 2003–04.

The appendices include information required under paragraphs (a)–(e), and (h) of section 108(4) of the Act. (Information required under the remaining provisions is contained in the main body of this report.) Section 108(4) of the Act lists the following matters:

- (a) the number of applications made to each agency and to each Minister; and
- (b) the number of decisions not to give access to a document, the provisions of this Act under which matter was classified as exempt and the number of times each provision was invoked; and
- (c) the name and designation of each officer with authority to make a decision in relation to an application, and the number of decisions made by each officer that an applicant was not entitled to access to a document on an application; and
- (d) the number of applications under sections 52 and 60 for review of a decision, and in relation to each application for review—
 - (i) the name of the officer who made the decision under review; and
 - (ii) the name and designation of the officer who conducted the review and the decision of the officer; and
 - (iii) if the officer conducting the review confirmed (in whole or part) a decision classifying matter as exempt matter—the provision of this Act under which that decision was made; and
- (e) the number of applications to the commissioner under section 73 and in relation to each application—
 - (i) the decision of the commissioner; and
 - (ii) the details of any other decision made by the commissioner; and
 - (iii) if the decision in respect of which the application was made was a decision that an applicant is not entitled to access to a document in accordance with an application—the provision of this Act under which the matter was classified as exempt matter; and
- (f) the number of notices served upon the principal officer of the agency under section 20(1) and the number of decisions by the principal officer which were adverse to the person's claim; and
- (g) particulars of any disciplinary action taken against an officer in relation to the administration of this Act; and
- (h) the amount of fees and charges collected by the agency or Minister; and

In addition, statistical data regarding the number of amendment applications and the various types of FOI applications are included in the appendices.

STATISTICAL DATA

The information contained in the following tables has been collected and supplied by agencies. Care has been taken to confirm the accuracy of data and to ensure that relevant agencies were consulted before the finalisation of this report.

Within Appendices 1.5 and 1.6, which refer to the types of applications received, the total number of applications received does not include applications brought forward from the previous year or applications withdrawn, transferred or lapsed.

It should be noted that within appendices 1.7 and 1.8, differing methodologies have been used by agencies in calculating statistics. For example, in some instances departments may consider a six page letter to be one document, whilst other departments will record this as six documents.*
